WHAT I FIND INTERESTING

I like to switch from social impact projects to narrative games to projects that require a lot of new hardware insights. Every once in a while I need to get something out that feels like it could help other people, other times I want to close myself off from the “real” world and think of a new one. And somewhere in between I’ll be very happy to mess around with electronics, or experiment with colors.

PROGRAMS I LIKE TO USE

- Visual Studio/Visual Code (with PlatformIO)
- Adobe Photoshop, Indesign, Illustrator, Dreamweaver
- Unity (C#)
- Android Studio
- Sourcetree

WHAT I’VE BEEN UP TO

- 04/2019 - 12/2019 Working on my own hardware project (midi controller)
- 04/2018 - 04/2019 Software developer at TriFact365
- 09/2017 - 06/2018 Courses in Computing Science at the University of Utrecht, the Netherlands
- 09/2015 - 01/2016 Internship at Logic Locks Escape room

Okay wow! Almost forgot to tell you, but I’m really passionate about finding new kinds of music and art, I like bouldering/toprope climbing and building stuff. I also feel strongly for projects that have some kind of social value.
